ABOUT US (MISSION, VISION, METHODS, PROGRAM OBJECTIVES)

DIALOGUE – Center for Deliberative Democracy, CDDD (hereinafter DIALOGUE) is a non-profit organization, established with the mission of strengthening of the democratic processes and the dialogue in various social spheres, improving of the human rights and promotion of the deliberative democracy in Republic of North Macedonia.

DIALOGUE is officially registered on 11th August 2016, after few members had successfully participated in implementation of several joint research projects. Consequently, the initiative to formalize this cooperation in the form of an association arises as result of mutual trust between its members, previous successful professional cooperation, and the idea of strengthening democratic thought at local and national level. DIALOGUE was therefore founded by five political scientists (the majority of them women) to decentralize the political thought and the idea of deliberate democracy.

DIALIGUE has a vision for North Macedonia in which citizens shell be active participants in the processes of deliberative democracy.

DIALOGUE aims toward:

- Research and analysis of social processes whose improvement is part of the goals of DIALOGUE
- Promoting research findings and recommendations in order to contribute to the creation of public policies
- Education in order to encourage and develop deliberative political culture
- Lobbying and advocacy of the values of deliberative democracy.
- Networking and cooperation with state and public institutions, educational institutions, intergovernmental, governmental and non-governmental organizations in the country and abroad

Main fields of research (program objectives) of DIALOGUE are:

Deliberative democracy

DIALOGUE defines deliberative democracy as a combination of representative and direct democracy that applies authentic deliberation to public policy and makes decisions by applying elements to both consensual decision-making and the rule of the majority.

Rule of Law

The rule of law includes research and analysis of functional democratic institutions, separation of powers, adoption of public policies based on data and evidence, delegation of power at the local level, the degree of discussion and cooperation between institutions in the political system.

As well as: Elections and political parties; Analysis of the election process, democratic inter-party capacity, monitoring of electoral process.

Civil society

Research and analysis of political culture, analysis of the impact of the civil society sector on political processes, capacity of civil society organizations and movements, involvement of the civil society in public debate and policy making.

The influence of the traditional and new media on the development of the deliberative democracy in North Macedonia

Determine the influence of the traditional and new media on the development of the deliberative democracy through appropriate research and analysis, the degree of independence and freedom of the media, as well as the degree of freedom of expression and hate speech.

Discrimination and marginalized groups

Analysis of the situations regarding basic human and minority rights and freedoms, and improvement of their conditions in the country.

Inter-ethnic cohabitation in North Macedonia, with a special accent on the inclusiveness of the non-majority minorities

In terms of interethnic cohabitation, an analysis of interethnic coexistence and cohabitation, with considerable attention to the smaller ethnic communities (non-majority minorities).

Gender equality

Exploring Gender Issues, Women's Status and Policy Making to Improve Gender Equality, Women's Participation in Political and Social Life.

Social justice

Analysis of the situation of economic inequality and improvement of social and labor rights in order to increase social trust and quality of life. Vulnerable groups such as old people, women, minorities, children etc, are significant focal target groups within this objective.

European Union and Euro-Atlantic integrations

Determining the level of Europeanization in accordance with the basic criteria for joining the Union. Analysis of the process of harmonization of the Macedonian with the European legislation and the process of their implementation.
